Conference Background

The Executive Conference is the only conference where over 340 senior management teams from the electronics industry's leading companies - representing the entire supply chain - gather to understand and address cross-enterprise challenges. This is where you gain access to industry experts and knowledge, forge the relationships that can make a real difference, and learn how to remove roadblocks to success.

The Executive Conference has been a must-attend event for over 30 years. The Conference offers an in-depth look at the industry and is geared not only towards education, but also to fostering relationships throughout the supply chain network. The meeting offers personal access to industry experts, ample time to discuss important issues and critical networking opportunities.

What attendees say:

“The conference is a great opportunity to see other industry executives together at one place. And the speakers are always relevant with topics that are front of mind and that are important to us and going on right now.”

“The ECIA Conference is actually one I look forward to every year. It not only tells me about the current trends but it makes me think about what's going to happen.”

“Clearly the ECIA Committee responsible for this conference did an outstanding job with the mix of speakers overall. Hope this strategy will continue to apply to future conferences.”
